5 EDUCATIONAL ESCAPES

1 BE A MARINE BIOLOGIST IN THE MALDIVES. Gili Lankanfushi's five-night educational escape lets teens dive into Maldivian marine wonders this summer with three days' work experience on the Coral Lines Project, assisting marine biologists on coral reef recovery, seagrass monitoring and fish ID excursions, and reporting their findings on a blog.

2 GET ARTY OR SPORTY IN ITALY. This Easter, Verdura Resort in Sicily is introducing new creative activities for children alongside its golf and football academies. There's a Graffiti Academy for teenagers to express their creative side and little ones can craft their own Easter baskets, bunnies, flowers and eggs.

3 JOIN THE CLUB IN DUBAI. Children receive a welcome gift when they check into JA Beach Hotel and can take advantage of extensive facilities to learn things like horse riding, kayaking, sailing and tennis. There's also a games room, CoolZone Kids Club and ChillZone Teens Club. jaresortshotels.com

4 BOOST CONFIDENCE IN SRI LANKA. Education consultants Oppidan Education will run camps for kids aged eight to 16 at luxury resort Cape Weligama from May 23-31 (spring half term), encouraging personal development and teaching skills ranging from how to do a Dragon's Den-style pitch to creative writing. resplendentceylon.com

5 BE A RANGER IN ECUADOR. Mashpi Lodge's team of local naturalist guides can teach teens techniques for safely navigating the forest by foot or they can observe the Lodge's resident scientists at work in the laboratory. On leaving, they can spread the word on conservation by becoming a Young Mashpi Ranger. mashpilodge.com
